It defeated 13 to 9 a Republican

effort to limit OPA's new lease on ife to nine months. The committee aimed a blow a OPA pricing policy, voting 15 to 6 to prohibit the agency from requiring retailers for a period of six months to absorb larger cost of manufactured products, such as refrigerators, automobiles and radios.

Will Abolish Subsidies The group, by a 15 to 5 ballot approved - subject to house and senate action-a gradual terminaion of the government's $2,000,000,-000 annual subsidy program.

The latter amendment would require the government to reduce subsidy payments by 25 per cent over the year beginning July 1 and get out of the subsidy business by the subsidy business by June 30, 1947. The subsidies include payments to hold down food costs.

A proposal by Rep. Wolcott (R., Mich.) to give manufacturers prices reflecting production cost and a easonable profit on each item, was lefeated on a 11 to 11 tie vote. The committee ran into a deadock yesterday on the subsidy-end amendment and put off a show-

Retailers Win Pricing Argument; Subsidies Are On Way Out

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 5.—The iouse banking committee today approved a year's extension of price control, as recommended by Presi-dent Truman.

It defeated 13 to 9 a Republican effort to limit OPA's new lease on life to nine months. The committee aimed a blow at OPA pricing policy, voting 15 to 6 to prohibit the agency from requiring retailers for a period of six months to absorb larger cost of manufactured products, such as refrigerators, automobiles and radios. Will Abolish Subsidies The group, by a 15 to 5 ballot, approved — subject to house and senate action-a gradual termination of the government's $2,000,000,-000 annual subsidy program. The latter amendment would require the government to reduce subsidy payments by 25 per cent over the year beginning July 1 and get out of the subsidy business by une 30, 1947.

The subsidies include payments to hold down food costs. A proposal by Rep. Wolcott (R., Mich.) to give manufacturers prices reflecting production cost and a reasonable profit on each item, was defeated on a 11 to 11 tie vote.

The committee ran into a dead-lock yesterday on the subsidy-end amendment and put off a showdown until today. Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, and Albert S. Goss, master of the National grange, both have irged the committee to get rid of Wolcott's amendment proposes a 25 per cent reduction in subsidy payments on agricultural commodiles each 45 days after July 1, with

Everything Is Dandy

From where Reconversion Director John W. Snyder sits, in Washington, D. C., everything in the United States is dandy-almost everything. Mr. Snyder wishes there hadn't been so many strikes, but the figures show that civilian goods production now stands at the highest level in history, more than $150,000,000,000 a year. It is an impressive statistic.

This and all of Mr. Snyder's other evidence is statistical. Statisticians can do wonderful things. A year ago they convinced Washington there was going to be wholesale unemployment as soon as the war ended. It didn't happen. Jobs are still looking for men. Statisticians now are able to convince Washington that price control is a huge success and inflation is being kept under control. They can prove with a couple licks and larrups on their adding machines just about any proposition that the politicians need to have backed up with figures.

Perhaps Mr. Snyder honestly thinks everything i dandy: Apparently he has sold President Truman. You can bet Chairman Hannegan is going to say everything is plus perfect. All of these men and million others may see nothing but blue sky and bluebirds. But out where the rest of the citizens sit things don't look so dandy. Civilian goods production may be at a new level in cheap dollars. Inflation may be under control. The weather may be nice, and maybe there will be pie for supper if someone can find some sugar. But there are too many things to be considered on the other hand, like things that can't be made because someone somewhere says no, stabilized prices that keep going up, stabilized purchasing power that keeps going down and millions of people who keep telling one another, "Boy, ain't this a mess." Mr. Snyder, Mr. Truman et al shouldn't take statistics so seriously. They should ask the statisticians what they think.

Settled Out of Court

The easing of tension following signs that the Soviet Union and Iran are about to settle their dispute out of court answers one question and poses another

United Nations Security council knows how it can get out of the situation created by Iran's complaint. But the council does not know how it can get out of the situation created by Russia's refusal to have the complaint dealt with as a procedural matter. Russia has snubbed the council in the first attempt to deal with an international situation. Its delegate has absented himself from council meetings and forced the other members into an awkward and embarrasing position. The theory of collective security has been challenged by one of the two strongest world powers.

This is not an auspicious beginning. It is in fact a very bad beginning. If there is a sense of relief in the prospect that the matter is going to be settled out of court, it is the kind of relief that comes from not being hit in the head with a hammer-it feels so good when it stops.

Russia may have brought off a diplomatic triumph, but it was a triumph in the old tradition of diplomacy-the tradition that has produced two world wars in the 20th century and can produce another without much trouble.

Stuck Either Way

The American Car and Foundry Co. of St. Louis found itself with a strike on its hands when an employe refused to join the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen (AFL), which represents the workers in this open shop. The company, in an effort to end the strike, asked the man to join, and fired him when he wouldn't. Then the National Labor Relations board took over.

The board ordered the company to cease encouraging its men to join the BRC or any other union. It ordered the company to reinstate this employe with full seniority and to reimburse him for any financial ton spent Easter with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. loss incurred.

Technically, the NLRB seems to have been right. It is probably as much a case of interference for a company to urge a man to join a union, even one not company-dominated, as it is to threaten him with discharge unless he stays out. But what was the NLRB's motive-to protect the individual's choice of action, to protect the union from "domination," or to penalize the company for strike-settling tactics which must have been agreeable to both management and union?

Obviously the individual's right to choose wasn't the prime consideration, since that choice is denied moting the position, desires and ambitious objectives. in the NLRB-sanctioned closed shop. And as for yet there are, as well, signs of a stronger urge to dally domination, it would rather seem to an outsider that by the wayside and indulge in certain dramatic or the NLRB might itself be trying to coerce the company romantic adventures of more allure and less profit. and interfere in labor-management relations by its action. For, if the company is to avoid similar and ruptive and devastating and create prodigality, exfurther penalties, the only solution is a closed shop travagance and excesses of far-reaching and regretin which the worker has no choice but to join the table denouement. Refrain from squalls and squan-

In other words, it is all right for the union to force union membership on a man under threat of tunity for advancing the interests on solid foundacompany dismissal. But the company can't do the tions, with large scope and wide influence on future same thing. And the American Car and Foundry Co. benefits, yet a lure to a sudden development in admeanwhile is in the unenviable position of being venture, romance, change and innovation, may be too damned by the government if it does, and damned difficult to resist. if it doesn't.

Everything Is Dandy

Prom where Reconversion Director John W. Snyder sits, in Washington, D. C., everything in the United States is dandy-almost everything. Mr. Snyder wishes there hadn't been so many strikes, but the figures show that civilian goods production now stands at the highest level in history, more than $150,000,000,000 a year. It is an impressive statistic.

This and all of Mr. Snyder's other evidence is statistical. Statisticians can do wonderful things. A year ago they convinced Washington there was going to be wholesale unemployment as soon as the way ended. It didn't happen. Jobs are still looking for Statisticians now are able to convince Washington that price control is a huge success and inflation is being kept under control. They can prove with a couple licks and larrups on their adding machines just about any proposition that the politicians need to have backed up with figures.

Perhaps Mr. Snyder honestly thinks everything is dandy: Apparently he has sold President Truman. You can bet Chairman Hannegan is going to say everything is plus perfect. All of these men and million others may see nothing but blue sky and bluebirds. But out where the rest of the citizens sit things don't look so dandy. Civilian goods production may be at a new level in cheap dollars. Inflation may be under control. The weather may be nice, and maybe there will be pie for supper if someone can find some sugar. But there are too many things to be considered on the other hand, like things that can't be made because someone somewhere says no, stabilized prices that keep going up, stabilized purchasing power that keeps going down and millions of people who keep telling one another, "Boy, ain't this a mess." Mr. Snyder, Mr. Truman et al shouldn't take sta tistics so seriously. They should ask the statisticians what they think

The easing of tension following signs that the Soviet Union and Iran are about to settle their dispute out of court answers one question and poses

United Nations Security council knows how it can get out of the situation created by Iran's complaint. But the council does not know how it can get out of the situation created by Russia's refusal to have the complaint dealt with as a procedural matter. Russia has snubbed the council in the first attempt to deal with an international situation. Its delegate has absented himself from council meetings and forced the other members into an awkward an embarrasing position. The theory of collective security has been challenged by one of the two strongest

This is not an auspicious beginning. It is in fac a very bad beginning. If there is a sense of relief in the prospect that the matter is going to be settled out of court, it is the kind of relief that comes from not being hit in the head with a hammer-it feels so good when it stops.

Russia may have brought off a diplomatic triumph, but it was a triumph in the old tradition of wars in the 20th century and can produce another without much trouble.

Stuck Either Way

The company, in an effort to end the strike, asked the man to join, and fired him when he wouldn't. Then the National Labor Relations board took over.

The board ordered the company to cease encouraging its men to join the BRC or any other union. It ordered the company to reinstate this employe with full seniority and to reimburse him for any financial ton spent Easter with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. loss incurred.

Technically, the NLRB seems to have been right. It is probably as much a case of interference for a hosts at a family gathering Sunday. company to urge a man to join a union, even one not company-dominated, as it is to threaten him with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kennedy, Bank st., to celebrate discharge unless he stays out. But what was the the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Kennedy, NLRB's motive-to protect the individual's choice of action, to protect the union from "domination," or to penalize the company for strike-settling tactics which must have been agreeable to both management and

Obviously the individual's right to choose wasn't the prime consideration, since that choice is denied moting the position, desires and ambitious objectives, in the NLRB-sanctioned closed shop. And as for yet there are, as well, signs of a stronger urge to dally domination, it would rather seem to an outsider that by the wayside and indulge in certain dramatic or the NLRB might itself be trying to coerce the company romantic adventures of more allure and less profit. and interfere in labor-management relations by its action. For, if the company is to avoid similar and ruptive and devastating and create prodigality, exfurther penalties, the only solution is a closed shop travagance and excesses of far-reaching and regretin which the worker has no choice but to join the table denouement. Refrain from squalls and squanunion.

In other words, it is all right for the union to force union membership on a man under threat of tunity for advancing the interests on solid foundacompany dismissal. But the company can't do the tions, with large scope and wide influence on future same thing. And the American Car and Foundry Co. benefits, yet a lure to a sudden development in admeanwhile is in the unenviable position of being venture, romance, change and innovation, may be too damned by the government if it does, and damned difficult to resist. if it doesn't

"Canned" Ack-Ack Guns On Display

PORT CLINTON, April 5.—The Erie ordnance depot will hold open house Saturday afternoon, so the public can see how it puts antiaircraft guns in cans, and wraps howitzers in man-made spider

Formerly the Erie proving grounds where the army tested 70 per cent of the mobile artillery used by the United States and its allies during the war, the depot now is a storage unit.

Its principal problem is to store weapons in rust-free condition with a minimum of maintenance The ack-ack guns are a particular headache, because their fire control apparatus is difficult to maintain. So the depot puts 90 mm. anti-aircraft guns in welded steel cans, which look like big metal crates, and the 40 mm. guns in aluminum cans.

Then the air is removed and dry gas is pumped into the cans. Tem-peratures and humidity indicators guard against any leaks. Stored in this manner, the ack-ack shooters can be taken out quickly in firing condition.

For larger guns, including those up to 240 mm., there is a variety of storage methods. One is to disassemble them and coat the bright surfaces with rust preventive.

Another method, which preserves the weapon in firing condition is to spray a fine web of plastic over the entire mechanism. Five layers of plastic film form a tough web over the gun, making the whole thing air-tight and rust-proof.

'Radio Brain' Gives Bombs Accuracy

PITTSBURGH, April 5.—The cry of "Bombs Away" no longer ends the bombardier's job, the Gulf Oil corporation's research and development unit declared today.

Instead, development of a "radio brain" in the tail of bombs enables the bombardier to guide deadly missles to their target with pin-point precision. The researchers said the first

Since ordinary missiles are lost to sight before reaching the ground, this weapon was equipped with a 1,000,000 candle power flare in the tail, igniting automatically in the fall. Its course could be followed clearly by eye the researchers said. 'By visual operation," they added, "the bombardier can detect errors of as little as five to 10 feet from heights up to 15,000 feet, and correct them to left or right by pushing the bomb control stick.

From the Azon bomb, the researchers continued the development to produce an even more deadly missle, known as the

PITTSBURGH, April 5.-The cry of " Bombs Away" no longer ends the bombardier's job, the Gulf Oil corporation's research and development unit declared today.

Instead, development of a "radio brain" in the tail of bombs enables the bombardier to guide deadly missles to their target with pin-point precision. The researchers said the first such bomb, a 1,000-pounder, was called Azon, since it could be guided for "Azimuth only," that is only to the right or Since ordinary missiles are lost to sight before reaching the ground, this weapon was equipped with a 1,000,000 candle power flare in the tail, igniting automatically in the fall. Its course could be followed clearly by eye the researchers said. "By visual operation," they added, "the bombardier can detect errors of as little as five to 10 feet from heights up to 15,000 feet, and correct them to left or right by pushing the bomb control stick. $_{\oplus}$

From the Azon bomb, the researchers continued the development to produce an even more deadly missle, known as the

ATOMIC WAR

Scientists, Army Men Agree Foe Would Try For Knockout ican tradition. We are to deliver the first blow

BY CLARKE BEACH WASHINGTON, April 5—Enough cations. The aggressor nation might then announce to the victim that now has been disclosed by the men who share the dark secrets of the atomic bomb for us to picture what World War III would be like if folly permits it to occur.

There is still some hope among high policy makers in this country and Great Britain that even if war comes the thought of disastrous consequences might stop any nation launching the first bomb against a state prepared to strike back with the same weapon. Those extending this hope sug-

1. Unless the first blow were a knock-out, there would surely be swift retaliation and grievous damage to the aggressor

2. By the time both nations had delivered their full supplies of atemic bombs, probably the centers of population and industry on both sides would be destroyed, with most of their inhabitants.

(The chances of a country as and conventional military large as the United States being ment that may be available fatally stricken in the first attack seem unlikely to the scientists.) 3. An enemy thus might choose to fight it out with conventional weapons. Scientists cite the fact that gas was not used on any large scale in the last war as a parallel. Neither side wanted to start using gas first.

Another Theory

But there is another theory, that dread of atomic war might in itself lead to an atomic attack. Dr. Bernard Brodie wrote for the Yale Institute of International Studies: "The Anxiety which the atomic bomb, itself induces...

breed national neuroses manifested in the urge for a "preventive" war.
"The doctrine that the only possible defense is a vigorous anticipatory offense may even acquire some military plausibility if the number of bombs in existence greatly increases, but it will be the 'solution' of total despair." If an atomic attack should come, the scientific and military experts agree, it will be unannounced, swift, designed to be so devastating as to make retaliation impos-

Goodrich Wins "A" Title With 50-28 "Battle of Giants" Looms Win Over Ohio Grill In Series Final

Displaying their usual well-balanced attack and potent scoring punch.

Wayne Sidinger's Goodrich quintet ran rough-shod over the Ohio Grill last night at the Memorial building, 50-28, to annex the 1946 Class A last night at the Memorial building, 50-28, to annex the 1946 Class A Bernards, 23 doberman pinschers rack up one of their easiest wins of the campaign.

Towering Bob Jeffries filled the gap left in the Goodrich lineup, caused when "Mutt" Schaeffer reteamed with Bill Schaeffer to control the backboards.

Their performance in the first period, when they counted but two points, spelled defeat for the Grills last night. Goodrich flipped in 10 markers to take a comfortable lead and sported a 21-10 margin at halftime. By the end of the third quarter, victory was certain since Goodrich held a 34-19 lead.

Playing out the finale was just a matter of formality with Goodrich again outscoring their foes by a wide margin.

Frankie Culler's six fielders sparked the winners while Sam Pridon paced the grills with 10. Schaeffer and Tom Nedelka of the winners also registered 10 tallies.

The win climaxed a most successful season for Sidinger's charges. During the course of the campaign, they racked up the loop's longest winning streak in capturing second round honors and the round robin tournament which followed completion of the regular season.

The Ohio Grill earned its way into the playoff when the first round championship was awarded them after Coppocks of Columbiana left the league. Coppocks had of-licially captured the crown with eight straight wins while the Grills were runnersup with a five and two mark. Prior to the playoff battle last night, two Church league teams, ELECTRIC FURNACE LEAGUE | QUAKER PASTRY MACHINISTS, 1 St. Paul and Trinity, put on a nip and tuck affair with the former winning out, 27-23.

Nocera and Ciricosta were big guns for the winners with eight Homer Gray . 133 points apiece while Borton led the Trinity five with 10.

Goodrich Wins "A" Title With 50-28 "Battle of Giants" Looms As "Toar" Meets Von Schatt Win Over Ohio Grill In Series Final

Displaying their usual well-balanced attack and potent scoring punch, wayne Sidinger's Goodrich quintet ran rough-shod over the Ohio Grill last night at the Memorial building, 50-28, to annex the 1946 Class A

After dropping the opener of the best two-out-of-three series, Good-rich roared back to cop the second tilt, 51-40, to even the set at a game apiece, then continued their comeback surge in last night's contest to rack up one of their easiest wins of the campaign.

Their performance in the first period, when they counted but two points, spelled defeat for the Grills last night. Goodrich flipped in 10 markers to take a comfortable lead and sported a 21-10 margin at halftime. By the end of the third quarter, victory was certain since Goodrich held a 34-19 lead.

Playing out the finale was just a matter of formality with Goodrich again outscoring their foes by a wide margin.

Frankie Culler's six fielders sparked the winners while Sam Pridon paced the grills with 10. Schaeffer and Tom Nedelka of the winners also registered 10 tallies.

The win climaxed a most successful season for Sidinger's charges. During the course of the campaign, they racked up the loop's longest winning streak in capturing second round honors and the round robin tournament which followed completion of the regular season.

The Ohio Grill earned its way into the playoff when the first round championship was awarded them after Coppocks of Columbiana left the league. Coppocks had of-licially captured the crown with eight straight wins while the Grills were runnersup with a five and
